KIRRIEMUIR

The Kirriemuir Christmas Tree and Entertainment will take place on Thurs. Dec. 22nd. The school teacher Miss Ryley is working hard to make it a really happy Xmas for the youngsters. Everybody pull together.

The Altario Juveniles gave a splendid entertainment last Friday. It was the greatest treat of the year. The funds were for the Altario Red Cross Hospital. About $80.00 was realized.

Congratulations were in order, to the two lucky winners of turkeys namely: Gauder Johnson and Rev. A. V. Houghton. Thanks are due to Mrs. Ael Hennessy, the donor of the first turkey, also to Mrs. I. Morris who disposed of the envelopes, and so added to the Bazaar funds.

Cooperation was the key-note of the View-Land Sunday School Session last Sunday at 2 p.m. under Rev. A. V. Houghton. It was followed by a Gospel Service, conducted by Messrs. May and Morton. Why not more of these co-operative meetings?

The service at Roy and Mrs. Baxter's home, next Sunday at 2 p.m., will be observed as the Xmas Service, followed by the usual Christian social hour.

Frank Cochran has taken a business trip to Coronation.

F. S. and Mrs. Fish left here on Monday morning for their home in the States. We wish them a pleasant journey and many happy years of life.

Gene Osborne has rented the barn from P. Schunneker.

There will be a Christmas Tree for the community as usual in the Big Hall on Christmas Eve. The St. Laurence Sunday School invite one and all to come. Proceedings will commence at 7 p.m., sharp. Beside the Christmas Tree, there will be a Program and games, also a set of Lantern Pictures on Dickens' Christmas Carol. The Hall will be decorated with apple blossom.

Local Happenings

Shop Early! Only 10 days.

W. G. and Mrs. MacKenzie spent the past week visiting at points west, returning home on Saturday night.

A fine array of calendars are being distributed by the local merchants to their customers and others.

We were given to understand that McGirr had added another clerk to his staff, for the holiday season, but Gil denies that he has left the Bank work for the retail business. So there you are.

T. H. Ferguson was a visitor to Stettler last week. Joe Woodrow was in charge of the store during his absence.

Bernard Harley spent the week-end with his brother, down at Altario.

The mild weather of the past week and the rain on Saturday put a finish to what little sleighing there was around here. Many of the farmers have been using sleighs in hauling their wheat to town but they will have to revert to wheels again.

The local skating rink has been open several nights and the skaters have enjoyed this fine winter pastime. The hockey players have been getting a little work-out once in a while, but the mild weather has held things up. Once the rink has been formally opened all ticket holders and the women and children will be admitted free during the regular skating nights, and those without season tickets will be charged 25c. admission.

The Annual Meeting of the Sound-ing Lake U.F.A. will be held at Horse Shoe School on Saturday, December 17th, at 2 p.m. At the close of the meeting a social time will be spent. Everyone is invited. Ladies please bring refreshments.

Canada's Opportunity

Feelings of unrest and the state of depression which have prevailed in Canada are but a reflex of similar conditions throughout the world, and the cause can be attributed very largely and directly to conditions brought about by the Great War. Only through a general improvement in world conditions can a permanent betterment be effected, but is the bringing about of that general world improvement each nation has a part to play. In addition, each nation must assiduously set to work to overcome existing difficulties and find a solution for present problems as they are found to exist in each particular country.

The conference on the limitation of armaments at Washington is one important step towards bringing about what cannot fail to be a vital factor in reducing the burden now imposed on the economic structure of the world, and in lowering the tremendous load of taxation levied on all peoples. Aside from the enormous reductions to be effected in war expenditures, the agreement for limitation of armaments, which now seems assured, will have an even more beneficial effect because the result must be to greatly reduce the danger of war in the future, thereby giving confidence and stability to world finance, trade and commerce.

The successful outcome of the negotiations between the British Government and the representatives of Southern Ireland is a second and enormously important step towards a rehabilitation of confidence throughout the English-speaking world. It means much to the whole British Empire as it removes the one great danger spot of friction and ill-will within the Empire. The solution of the Irish problem also means a betterment in the relations between the Empire and the people of the United States, and this is of the greatest importance to Canada and cannot fail to have a steady and beneficial effect in this Dominion.

A third event, bound to have a good effect on business conditions throughout the Dominion, is the holding of the general election in this country, when, for the first time in a decade, the people have had a free and untrammelled opportunity to pass judgment on questions of purely domestic policy. Until a verdict of the people was obtained there was bound to be a considerable degree of political unrest and business uncertainty. The people of Canada had become divided into several groups on economic questions and the impression prevailed generally that for a period of years it was going to be extremely difficult to carry on government in this country without resort to log-rolling and the making of dangerous compromises. This inevitably had an adverse effect on business and the people as a whole.

Quite apart, therefore, from any consideration as to which one of the three political parties has emerged victorious from the battle of the ballots, people are breathing a sigh of relief that one of the three has been given a sufficiently large following in the new Parliament to enable it to direct and carry on the business of government. This, in itself, is bound to have a good effect in removing the former uncertainty, and with the ending of the uncertainty there will follow a removal of much unrest. Depression will thus, to a very considerable degree, give place to confidence, and with increased confidence a renewal of activity will follow.

It remains now for each community and individual citizen to loyally accept the verdict of the majority, and for all to join hands and forces in a great co-operative effort to develop the great natural resources of this country to their maximum extent and thereby swing Canada into an era of prosperity for all.

Canadians should enter into this great national work with stout hearts and a will to succeed. "It can be done." The divisions and feelings engendered in the past should now be buried with that dead past. What is required is a united Canada; a Canada with a forward look; a Canada imbued with optimism; alive with energy, thrilled with a national enthusiasm, and inspired with a true Canadian national spirit. It means that every Canadian must work and work hard, and it must be the business of government and of every community and individual to see that remunerative, constructive work is provided for all.

The dark clouds of adversity which have for so long hung over the world are lifting; there is a silver lining all around them, and that lining is broadening in extent and becoming brighter all the time. Through a union of all their forces, and the application of all their energy and skill to the development of their great wealth of natural resources, the Canadian people can easily place this Dominion very quickly in the front rank of the nations treading the paths of prosperity.

"I don't care," interrupted the man boldly "so long as they don't button down the back."

Too Many Short Cuts

Efficiency is Not Reached Until Details Are Mastered

Learn a trade and don't be satisfied until you have mastered the details and are able to prove you are a specialist at your job. One great trouble today is that short cuts are taken to shorten apprenticeships and the result is often a "boffin" turned out instead of a workman. The same is often true of school and college life: anything to get in the prescribed time, and as a result it is often a poor stab that is made at the examinations. You can't grow an oak on mushroom principles.—Brussels Post.

DIET NOT EVERYTHING IN KEEPING HEALTHY

Your table may be loaded with food digestible and wholesome, yet you don't get strong. What's the trouble? The liver is lazy, stomach is overloaded, the bowels are not active. Relief is quickly supplied by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They make weak sickly people strong and bring them back to the system clear of impurities. Those who regulate the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills don't have indigestion or constipated bowels. They feel snappy all over, because their system is kept in smooth running order. They revitalize and stimulate their whole being, to shake off the nag and grow new, nothing compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which certainly bring good blood good spirits, good health. ## WHEN NERVES ARE NEAR EXHAUSTION

A Tonic Should Be Taken To Enrich the Blood

When you become so exhausted after a day's work that you cannot sleep, or sleep fails to refresh you, it is time to look after your health. Failure to act at once means a steady drain on your health reserve, which can result in but one thing—a nervous breakdown.

Do not wait for a breakdown. The treatment is simple enough if you do not let your condition become too far advanced. The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring an effective tonic. As the nerves have to be nourished by the blood, the vital fluid must be built up. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in nervous troubles.

Mrs. Mary McAdam, Sydney Mines, N.S., is one of the many who has proved this tonic treatment. She says: "Last winter my health completely gave out. I was all run down and my nervous system in a condition that greatly alarmed me. I often had nervous headaches, and at times severe pains in the region of my heart. I felt as though I would never be well again. My doctor gave me a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and before the second box was finished I began to improve, and under a further use of the pills I felt as well as ever. I would advise all weak and nervous women to give this medicine a trial."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rich Embroidery Trims a Coat of Poirer Twill

By Marie Belmont

This lovely coat is developed in tan Poirer twill, combined with dark brown. The latter is chosen for the upper part of the coat as well as the under part of the sleeves. The skirt of the coat is lavishly adorned with dark brown embroidery, and this enriches the upper part of the sleeves. Beaver fur encircles the neck and also makes handsome cuffs. The wide belt is slipped through a buckle of unusual size, while a solitary button fastens the collar. The hat that accompanies this is of brown, hatter's plush and is trimmed with flowers.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is Tonic and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the body, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

How "Humbug" Originated

The expression, "all humbug," had its origin during a Continental war, when many false reports were circulated in Hamburg. It became customary for anyone wishing to signify his disbelief in a statement to say, "That is Hamburg," and so the word "humbug" found its way into the language.

Not Looking For Work

A washerwoman applied to a gentleman for work, and he gave her a note to the manager of a certain club. It read as follows:

"No matter what I should say about Tanlac, it wouldn't be half good enough, said Mrs. Mary Wilhelm, 716 Mint Way, South Side, Pittsburg, Pa. "I never dreamed it possible for a medicine to restore me to the splendid health I now enjoy. In fact, I had almost resigned myself to being an invalid, as I could see I was losing weight and strength every day, and no relief was in sight. For three years stomach trouble, headaches and nervousness made my life miserable. "The first bottle of Tanlac acted almost like magic and it wasn't long until I was so well and strong that I could hardly realize I had ever known a sick day. I am like a different person in every way now, eating, sleeping, feeling and looking better than in years." Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

THE BEGINNER

About this time of year Sandy McFeece puts in his annual tender as caretaker of the Bingtown rink and begins to make ice for the opening of the curling season. He assumes the dignity required by reason of his exalted position, and maintains it though sometimes slightly ruffled by the various members of the club, who must visit the rink at least twice a day to offer their advice to a man who was born among the very hills from which curling stones are carved at fifty cents a pound. But at length the ice is ready and the cares and worries of business, solo, wild ones, etc., are forgotten in the excitement.

The man in question has never curled before and has been led to believe that the game had something to do with barbering, but he is soon disillusioned. A broom is put in to his hand and he is lead out unsuspectingly upon a tremendously long and very slippery sheet of ice. 'Here' says the skip, 'are your rocks' and slides out a couple of chunks of granite about the size of dishpan. The man eyes them interestedly. Innocently he reaches down to pick up one of them and examine it, but the cursed thing seems glued to the ice. He does not lift it but remarks in order to say something, that his wife used to make bread of almost the same size and shape and weight. "Now" says the skip, pointing toward a distant light "you will shoot for the ring at the other end of the ice when I give the signal."

With that the skip walks in a dignified manner, as a skip should, to the other end of the rink where he assumes a dignified pose, the starboard foot flat on the ice, left foot cocked up on the heel, broom pointing to the spot where he hopes the stone will stop, one hand wigwagging in the air and bellows "in turn, don't be light but hold your hand." All this is highly intelligible to the novice.

After considerable thought and some coaching by McFeece he gathers that he is to propel the lump of granite to the vicinity of the broom held by the cheerleader. He grasps the rock by its pretty amber handle ($6.50 wholesale) and hurls it violently towards the other end of the ice, at the same time describing a parabola in midair coming down heavily on that portion of his anatomy best suited for the purpose, and evidently trying to hit the rapidly travelling stone with his broom. He jumps up hastily and runs after the rock, while the skip jumps up and down and yells "you are too heavy." He thinks that this may be a personal remark, but noticing McWhirter, who would make two hundred and seventy-five ringside, pussy-footing up the ice on the adjacent sheet decides that the reference is to the rock, which he thought much too heavy himself and decides to ask for a lighter one for the next shot.

After the first man on the opposing rink shoots, however, he is persuaded that he must shoot the mate to his first rock. The opponent's rock has stopped right on the button, whatever that is, and our skip is shouting loudly for our novice to take it out. Our man does not see why they do not slide it out, if that is what they want; after receiving a great deal of advice finds that he must hit it with his rock and drive it out somewhere. The darned thing has apparently shrunk to about one eighth of its former size. The man who has used a rifle, asked if telescopic sights are permitted. He finally manages to get a small part of his foot in the hole and with great care, deliberation and poise delivers the rock. Unfortunately in swinging it past his foot he gets it too close and strikes

"That sounds like it," said Gardiner, with enthusiasm. "Now the whole thing's simple as a B C, and not half as dangerous as running a traction engine or breaking a broncho. It all rests on getting him out here with the money, and that's where you come in. I don't mind telling you if it wasn't for the help you can give there I'd handle the job myself, and save dividing the proceeds."

"Yes, that's the point, all right," said Riles, somewhat dubiously. "How're we going to get him out here with all that money?"

"Think, Riles," said Gardiner, puffing complacently at a fresh cigar.

"Think hard."

Riles wrinkled his forehead and spat copiously at the front hub, but the inspiration would not come. "I give it up," he said at last. "You'll have to plan it, an' I'll carry it out."

"That's what comes of hard work, Hiram; you lose all your imagination. Right now you haven't any more imagination than a cabbage. Now, I could suggest a dozen schemes to suit the purpose if I had to, but one will do. Suppose this:

"These mountains up here are full of coal—more coal than can be burnt in a million years. It's a bad road in, but once you get there you'll see it lying in scores of ten, fifteen, twenty feet thick, and stretching right through the rocks as far as you like to follow it. That coal's going to make a bunch of millionaires some day, but not until you can get at it with something bigger than a cayuse. But railroads come fast in this country, and there's no saying how soon a man might cash in if he invested just now."

"You ain't goin' to wait till a railroad comes, are you? We'll like enough be dead at that time."

"Hiram, I told you you had no imagination. Wait a moment. Now, suppose that some strange eccentric chap owns one of these coal limits. He lives up in the mountains, a kind of hermit, but we fall in with him and offer him forty thousand dollars for his limit, worth, say, half a million, or more if you feel like it. He says, 'All right, but mind I want the money in bills, and you'll have to bring it out to me here.' Now can you think of anything?"

"Harris don't know nothin' about coal," protested Riles. "He wouldn't bite at anything like that."

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O.,
Lucan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicine, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest or sleep at nights for pain, which mostly used to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch till my whole body would seem to jerk right up as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost normal again. I also keep a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

well as your imagination. You're got to paint it to him so's to get interested. That's all. Our business is to get Harris, with the money in his wallet, started up into those mountains. It's mighty lonely up there, with timber wolves, grizzly bears, precipices, snowslides and trails that lead to nowhere, and if Harris is unfortunate—well, he's unfortunate."

The plan gradually penetrated Riles' slow-witted mind. At first it numbed him a little, and his face was a strange colour as he turned to his companion, and said, in a low voice, "Ain't it risky? What if the police catch on?"

"They won't. They're all right for cleaning up a rough-house, but don't cut any figure in fine art work like we'll put over. I tell you, Riles, it's absolutely safe. Of course, ordinary precautions must be taken, same as you would with a vicious horse or any other risk you might run. The main thing is to see that he has the money in bills; anything else would be risky and lead to trouble. Then this fellow that's supposed to own the mine must be kept in the background. We—"

"But who does own the mine?" Gardiner made a gesture of exasperation. "You don't get me, Hiram. Nobody owns the mine. That part of it's all a myth—a fairy tale manufactured by the newspapers. But Harris mustn't find that out—not, at any rate, until it's too late. Then if anything ever does leak out, suspicion will be directed toward some mysterious mine-owner, and the police will be wearing out shoe-leather hunting the fellow in the foothills while you and I are taking in the sights of Honolulu or South America. We'll quietly make an appointment for Harris to see the mine-owner somewhere up in the hills. We'll direct him where to go, and leave it at that. Of course we won't go with him; we'll have other business about that time."

Riles looked at Gardiner with frank admiration. It seemed so simple now, and in his growing enthusiasm he felt that he could have little difficulty in persuading Harris to raise all the cash possible and bring it with him. And it seemed so safe. As Gardiner said, the mountains were full of danger, and if something should happen to Harris—well, he would be unfortunate; but lots of other people had been unfortunate, too.

Gardiner turned his team down a steep road, forded the river, climbed a side, slippery bank, and drew up beside a cluster of ranch buildings sheltered with cotton-woods and spruces. The old, long log-house, reminiscent of the days when the West was a land and a law unto itself, might have stirred the heart of poet or artist; the hard-beaten soil of the coral hinted still of the brave days of the open range and cattle beyond the counting. As the team, in their long, steady trot, swung up beside the stables, an alert young fellow came quickly out and busied himself with the unloading.

"Guess you ought to know our visitor, Jim, shouldn't you?" said Gardiner.

"Another Manitoba chasing the free land."

Travers at once recognized Riles and extended his hand. "Well, Mr. Riles, we were looking for you here, although I suppose I shouldn't be surprised, for there was some talk of your coming West before I left Plainville. What do you think of it? And did you see the mountains this morning? Worth the trip themselves, aren't they?"

"Look pretty good, all right, Jim," said Riles, with an attempt at affability, "but I reckon you wouldn't grow much wheat on 'em, an' scenery's not very filling. How you makin' it go yourself?"

"Nothing but luck since I landed," said Jim. "Got a homestead and a good job right away. You must let me take you out to my farm before you go back. How's everybody? Harries well, I hope?"

"Guess they're well enough, but getting kind of scattered for a family group. Beulah hit out when you did—didn't I give you no information about that?"

The smile did not depart from Travers' face, but if Riles had known him as well as he should he would have seen the sudden smouldering light in the eye. But the young man answered quietly, "I saw Beulah the day I left Plainville, and I understood she was going West on a visit. She ain't back yet?"

"Innocent, ain't chuh?" said Riles, in a manner intended to be playful. "It's all right; I don't blame you. Beulah's a good girl, if a bit high falutin', an' a few years' roughin' it on the homestead'll take that out of her."

But Jim had dropped the harness and stood squintingly facing Riles. The smile still lingered on his lips, but even the heavily-veiled farmer saw that he had been playing with fire. Riles was much the larger man of the two, but he was no one to court combat unless the odds were overwhelmingly in his favour. "He carried a scar across his eye as a constant reminder of his life in having once before invited trouble from a younger man."

"What do you mean?" demanded Travers. "Put it in English."

"Don't be too sensitive, Jim," he said. "Riles has forgotten his parlor manners, but he doesn't mean any harm. You weren't insinuating anything, were you, Hiram?"

"Course not," said Riles, glad of an opportunity to get out of the difficulty without a direct apology. "No offence intended, Jim. Beulah's all right, an' you're all right, an' that's what I always said."

Travers was not in the least deceived as to Riles' high-mindedness, but he realized that the man was the guest of his employer, and he decided not to press the point. Gardiner and Riles went to the house, and Jim presently saddled his own horse and rode out on the prairie. He had already lunched, and it was Gardiner's custom to cook for himself when at home.

Inside, the two men were soon seated at a meal with Gardiner hastily but deftly prepared. They ate from plates of white enameled ware, on a board table covered with oilcloth, but the food was appetizing, and the manner of serving it much more to Riles' liking than that to which he had been subjected for some days. The meat was fresh and tasty; and the bread and butter were all that could be desired, and the strong hot tea, without milk but thick with sugar, completed a meal that was in every way satisfactory. Riles' eyes, when not on his plate, were busy taking in the surroundings. The log walls were hung with mementoes, some of earlier days and some of other lands, and throughout the big room was a strange mixture of elegance and plainness. At one end were rows of shelves, with more books than Riles had ever seen, and above stood a small piece of statuary worth the price of many bushels of wheat.

Gardiner noted the interest of his guest, and smiled quietly to himself. He supposed that Riles had the usual notions about the Far West—a notion that here he was on the outermost rim of the finer civilization of even the Middle West. But he knew also that this plain log building contained furnishings and decorations altogether beyond anything that Riles had ever seen or heard of—things, indeed, so far removed from the life of the hard-working farmer that they might have come from another world than his own. When the meal was finished Gardiner swept the soiled dishes into a big galvanized iron tub, there to await attention from Jim at a convenient season, and invited Riles to look about the house.

They entered another room, immediately to the north of the large apartment which served all general house-keeping purposes. The floor was of plain boards, smoothed with the riding-boots of many years, and in the centre lay the skin of a great bear. An old-fashioned carved table, of some size, and three leather chairs, were the principle furniture. Two swords hung diagonally across the far wall, and above them was an old flag, discoloured with sun and rain. Ancient firearms decorated the walls, and odd

Liberal Party Is Returned To Power By Large Majority

Ottawa.—After ten years in opposition, the Liberal party is again returned to power. In the new House, Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King will have a clear majority over all parties. Of the three parties the Progressives stand second and the Government party third. In the three provinces of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and Quebec, the Liberals swept every seat. The new National Progressive party, by securing sixty seats, will become a factor in Dominion politics. The Progressives did not secure the support that was expected in the east, but in the provinces of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan they made almost a clean sweep.

The Government has retained little more than a third of the seats it held at dissolution. The prime minister was defeated in his own constituency and with him were defeated eight members of his administration. The defeated cabinet ministers were:

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, prime minister.

Hon. L. P. Normand, president of the privy council.

Hon. Rodolph Monty, secretary of state.

Hon. L. G. Belley, postmaster-general.

Hon. A. Fauteux, solicitor-general.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of marine and fisheries.

Hon. E. K. Spinney, minister without portfolio.

$30 A WEEK MECHANIC JUMPS TO $750 A MONTH

Out in Chehalis, Washington, U.S.A., lives W. E. Pence, "Electrical Expert." Chehalis isn't much of a town, some between 3,000 and 5,000 people—and Pence doesn't pretend to be a whirlwind "Master of Finance" by any means. But his income is the "talk of the town." With great pride he exhibits the books of his Electrical Business which show a net profit of $750 a month.

Pence says himself, that he never dreamed of earning so much money two years ago. At that time he was making $30 a week and wondering if the time would ever come when his pocket book would let him buy everything he wanted, like he now is able to do.

OWES SUCCESS TO ELECTRICITY

Pence doesn't talk much about his success. He isn't that kind. But when he does talk about Electricity and the great future which it holds for men and boys—he hits "right from the shoulder." Without any reservations he gives all credit for his amazing success to the thorough electrical training which he has received in spare time during the past few months.

But let Pence tell his own story. Read his letter & listen, to L. L. Cooke, Chief Engineer of the Chicago Engineering Works:

Dear Mr. Cooke:

Less than a year ago I was an ordinary mechanic earning $25 to $30 a week. Today, thanks to you, I am an "Electrical Expert," in business for myself and making over $750 a month. My Success, I frequently am called upon by the invaluable help you have given me during the past few months. The thorough, practical training I acquired through your "Easily-learned, Spare-Time, Home-Study Course in Electricity," has made me financially independent, and a highly respected business man in this community.

Sincerely Yours,

W. E. Pence.

For 15 years Mr. Cooke has been training men at home, during their spare time, for Big Pay Electrical positions, and he has received thousands of letters like this. His system offers every man, regardless of age, education, or previous experience, the chance to become, in a very short time, an "Electrical Expert" able to earn $3,500 to $10,000 a year.

ELECTRICALLY TRAINED MEN IN DEMAND

Because of its prominent position in the Electrical Field, the Chicago Engineering Works frequently is called upon, by industries in the larger cities of the United States and Canada, to supply trained men for electrical work.

To meet these demands Mr. Cooke is now enrolling a Special Class for quick training. He expects to develop from this class a bunch of "Electrical Experts" who can go out and take over the big Electrical jobs that open up from time to time.

Complete particulars and actual proof of the great demand for "Electrical Experts" is contained in a booklet entitled, "How To Become An Electrical Expert." This may be had without cost by writing Chief Engineer Cooke, Chicago Engineering Works, 2150 Lawrence Avenue, Chicago, U.S.A.

Americans Being Interested in Expanding St. Luke's International Hospital

U.S. View On Dominion Elections

Opinions Varied on Possible Tariff Actions of New Canadian Government

Washington.—There is much speculation among members of Congress as to the possible effect of the elections on tariff relations between the United States and Canada. Especial interest is being taken in the situation by members of the House ways and means committee which has jurisdiction over tariff matters. Despite the fact that Premier Meighen, who openly advocated a high tariff for Canada, has been defeated, some authorities in Congress express the view it would be difficult to revive reciprocity or bring about mutually low tariffs.

Representative W. R. Green, of the House ways and means committee, said the real difficulty would be to find a place to start. He said with United States farmers and manufacturers both insisting on high tariffs, he did not see how reciprocity could be revived.

Others take the view that if the "Harding administration is given the broad powers it seeks in handling tariffs" the new Government of Canada will be able to achieve much in keeping down tariff barriers by negotiating with the President.

Mennonites Leave For Alabama

Will Establish New Homes in Southern State

Regina.—The trek of the Mennonites from Saskatchewan has commenced. The first special train bearing a party of 115 of these people left Regina on its way to Yellow Pine, Alabama, where they intend to establish their new homes in the clearings of the United States Land and Cattle Co. The special tract they are taking up was chosen by friends who went to Alabama some months ago and who have reported the district as one very favorable for settlement by the Mennonites.

This is the first large party to move, and the forerunner of others. For Mr. Emerson, who is directing the Mennonites to their new homes, admits that fully fifty more families are expected to leave before six weeks have elapsed.

Jamaica Prefers Canadian Flour

Change in Bill Will Affect Imports From U.S.

Kingston, Jamaica.—The Government introduced a tariff bill in the Legislative Council under which preference of 5 per cent. is given all British manufactured goods. British cotton piece goods will obtain a preference of 50 per cent. and Canadian flour a preference of 25 cents per bag.

These changes in the tariff, it is believed, will materially affect importations from the United States.

China Orders Goods From German Firms

Process of Recovering Business Connections Will Be Slow

London.—The Germans are gradually returning to China and picking up the threads of their former business; not trading for the present under their own names, but in partnership with Chinese, says a report on the commercial situation of China by H. H. Fox, commercial, councillor of the British legation in Peking.

German dyes and paints, needles, metals, drugs and sundries are beginning to appear on the Shanghai market, the report goes on, and it is stated that several important orders for machinery and electric plants have recently been booked by German firms.

There is no doubt, the report says, that the Germans assisted by the comparative cheapness of their products, will gradually recover the share they held in China's foreign trade before the war, but the process will be slow, as they have lost valuable connections, the business organizations they had so laboriously built up have been shattered, and they have suffered a serious loss of prestige in the eyes of the Chinese.

Bandits Captured In Vera Cruz

Buenos Aires.—Government forces have gained the upper hand over the bandits who have been terrorizing the inhabitants of the territory of Santa Cruz. Colonel Varela reports the capture of about 600 of the outlaws, together with 5,000 horses and quantities of arms and ammunition, and the recovery of booty valued at 70,000 pesos.

London.—With the tension and anxiety of the past week giving place to general rejoicing, preparations are being made for the necessary formalities for bringing the new Irish Free State into being.

Nowhere is there any real idea that anything can now happen to prevent its birth, although difficult detail may have to be encountered.

Downing Street was inundated with telegrams of congratulation from all over the world. The Premier presented to Lady Greenwood, the wife of Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, the pen with which he signed the Irish treaty as "an appreciation of your husband's efforts for peace." It is recalled that the Prime Minister's first speech of importance in his political career was delivered in the company of Michael Davitt at a political meeting in Wales in the eighties, and it was in favor of home rule.

One of the first fruits of the peace—probably arranged for at the conference when the treaty was drafted—was the Royal proclamation releasing more than 3,000 prisoners interned in Ireland. It is reported also that there may be reconsideration of the sentences imposed on those Irishmen convicted of political crimes.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK, HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women get weak and run down and unable to look after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes affected and she gets irritable and nervous, has hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night.

To all women whose heart and nerves and whose nerves are unstrung we would recommend

There was a large attendance at the Movie Show on Monday night. A dance was held after the show. The same company will show here every Monday night.

A host of friends here will be sorry to hear that Mrs. F. C. Grayburn passed away, last Saturday, at Missoula, Mont., after a short illness. F. C. and Mrs. Grayburn left here about two months ago, having rented the Fairview Farm to their son, Harold. The sympathy of the whole community is extended to the sorrowing family. The husband and five children are left to mourn her loss.

RHEUMATISM?

Health is the Most Valuable Asset You Have. You Cannot Afford to Neglect It

Crofton, B. C.—"I was troubled for years with inflammatory rheumatism and rheumatic fever. I tried several cures for rheumatism, but did not receive any benefit from any of them. I had been in the hospital for months, being unable to walk. A friend advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. After taking the first bottle I began to improve, and after taking six bottles I had no more rheumatism. I think Dr. Pierce's Anuric is the most wonderful medicine that any one can take for rheumatism. I have recommended these tablets to several of my friends and they, too, have all been benefited by them."—Melville Collinson.

People are realizing that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood. Uric acid backs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances.

This can be avoided by stimulating the kidneys to increased action, and because of its tonic effect on these organs any one would do well to get Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets which are to be had nowadays at almost any drug store or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont., for trial package and write for free, confidential medical advice.

Boring Power Of Ants

Engineer Found They Had Eaten Through Lead Cable

An extraordinary instance of the boring power of white ants comes from New South Wales.

An engineer who was repairing a buried, lead-covered telephone cable found that the ants had eaten their way inside. They had first bored through an outer covering of timber, which had been purposely steeped in arsenic, then through a layer of soft paraffin, and finally through the lead covering itself.

In spite of their difficult journey and their meals of arsenic and paraffin, the ants were full of life when they were discovered.

HEALTHY CHILDREN ARE HAPPY CHILDREN

The well child is always a happy child—it is a baby's nature to be happy and contented. Mothers, if your little ones are cross and peevish and cry a great deal they are not well—they are in need of medicine—something that will set their bowels and stomach in order, for nine-tenths of all childhood ailments arise from a disordered state of the bowels and stomach. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and thus drive out constipation, colic, indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make the baby healthy and happy. Concerning them, Mrs. Albert Hamel, Pierreville, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine I know of for little ones. They relieved my little girl from constipation when nothing else would, and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Hundred Dollars Worth For Thirty-Five Cents

When you are awakened from a sound sleep by Cramps, when without a moment's warning pain springs upon you, it's when you would readily pay a hundred dollars for the quick relief you could secure from a thirty-five cent bottle of trusty old Nerviline. Nothing like Nerviline to relieve cramps, stomach gas, diarrhoea and kindred ills. Nothing better for Neuralgia, cold in the chest and sore throat. The price of Nerviline is thirty-five cents, no more, no less, in all stores where medicines are sold.

A Little Bit of Time

Measuring a Thousandth Part of a Second

What can happen in the thousandth part of a second? This question comes to the mind when we hear of the wonderful instrument in use at the Royal Observatory at Edinburgh, Scotland, which Professor Sampson recently described at the British Association meeting.

A wireless signal will travel 186 miles in a thousandth of a second; a ray of light will do the same; an express train travelling 60 miles an hour will cover just under one inch in the time.

It is for registering with great precision the time of any signal that this wonderful instrument has been made. It is an electric detector and records the movements of a tiny spot of light on a moving photographic film. These very minute measurements are becoming more important every day, as it is only by studying the infinitely little that our knowledge of the big things can be advanced.

As a vermifuge an effective preparation is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, and it can be given to the most delicate child without fear of injury to the constitution.

WEST REGENT RIG STRIKES OIL

Oil Leases Change Hands

When the West Regent rig ceased operations for the winter months, last week, the head of the Company, Jns Dumma, announced to the oil men down in Calgary that oil had been struck at the local well and exhibited the samples secured in the Monitor field.

On the first indications of oil the drilling was stopped so as to allow enough oil to accumulate and several bottle-fulls were obtained. This information was kept a secret until the oil was handed over to Mr. Dumma and analysis made, however the News was not far out in its write-up of Nov. 3rd when it published the rumor of the oil strike.

It will take but a short time, when Spring comes, for the West Regent to reach the depth at which they expect a big flow.

Last month four thousand acres of oil leases changed hands and the new owners intend drilling next Spring, having plenty of capital. These leases are south of Monitor and include the Mud Buttes. The appearance of this strong Co. in the Monitor field will have a great bearing on the local situation.

The Record Oil Co.'s rig is the only one working at the present time and they intend drilling throughout the winter.

The Union Oil Co. has been taken over by the Dutch Shell Oil Co., one of the largest oil concerns in the world. The well half a mile east of town is owned by the Union Co.
